

Age Structure Diagrams Poster

Create an age structure diagram for your provided country and the United States of America, in the year 1990, 2017 and 2035 (this is a total of 6 age structure diagrams). Then compare the two different countries by answering the following questions in complete sentences and complete thoughts. Arrange your 6 different age structure diagrams in an organized poster with your responses to the questions below. Be prepared to present your findings and defend your answers to the class.

1. In 1990, what stage was your country in? How do you know?
2. What was happening in your country during this time that made your country be in this stage?
3. In 2017, what stage was your country in? How do you know?
4. Did your country change stages since 1990? How do you know?
5. If yes, what was happened in your country since 1990 that made your country be in this stage?
6. In 2035, what stage will your country be in? How do you know?
7. Did your country change stages since 2017? How do you know?
8. If yes, what was happened in your country since 1990 that made your country be in this stage?
9. In 1990, what stage was the United States of America in? How do you know?
10. What was happening in the United States of America during this time that made the United States of America be in this stage?
11. In 2017, what stage was the United States of America in? How do you know?
12. Did the United States of America change stages since 1990? How do you know?
13. If yes, what was happened in the United States of America since 1990 that made the United States of America be in this stage?
14. In 2035, what stage will the United States of America be in? How do you know?
15. Did the United States of America change stages since 2017? How do you know?
16. If yes, what was happened in the United States of America since 1990 that made the United States of America be in this stage?
17. How does your country compare to the United States of America during each stage?
18. What country, yours or the United States of America, do you predict will be more stable? Why do you think that?

Age Structure Diagrams Poster

Create an age structure diagram for your provided country and the United States of America, in the year 1990, 2017 and 2035 (this is a total of 6 age structure diagrams). Then compare the two different countries by answering the following questions in complete sentences and complete thoughts. Arrange your 6 different age structure diagrams in an organized poster with your responses to the questions below. Be prepared to present your findings and defend your answers to the class.

1. In 1990, what stage was your country in? How do you know?
2. What was happening in your country during this time that made your country be in this stage?
3. In 2017, what stage was your country in? How do you know?
4. Did your country change stages since 1990? How do you know?
5. If yes, what was happened in your country since 1990 that made your country be in this stage?
6. In 2035, what stage will your country be in? How do you know?
7. Did your country change stages since 2017? How do you know?
8. If yes, what was happened in your country since 1990 that made your country be in this stage?
9. In 1990, what stage was the United States of America in? How do you know?
10. What was happening in the United States of America during this time that made the United States of America be in this stage?
11. In 2017, what stage was the United States of America in? How do you know?
12. Did the United States of America change stages since 1990? How do you know?
13. If yes, what was happened in the United States of America since 1990 that made the United States of America be in this stage?
14. In 2035, what stage will the United States of America be in? How do you know?
15. Did the United States of America change stages since 2017? How do you know?
16. If yes, what was happened in the United States of America since 1990 that made the United States of America be in this stage?
17. How does your country compare to the United States of America during each stage?
18. What country, yours or the United States of America, do you predict will be more stable? Why do you think that?

Age Structure Diagrams Poster

Create an age structure diagram for your provided country and the United States of America, in the year 1990, 2017 and 2035 (this is a total of 6 age structure diagrams). Then compare the two different countries by answering the following questions in complete sentences and complete thoughts. Arrange your 6 different age structure diagrams in an organized poster with your responses to the questions below. Be prepared to present your findings and defend your answers to the class.

1. In 1990, what stage was your country in? How do you know?
2. What was happening in your country during this time that made your country be in this stage?
3. In 2017, what stage was your country in? How do you know?
4. Did your country change stages since 1990? How do you know?
5. If yes, what was happened in your country since 1990 that made your country be in this stage?
6. In 2035, what stage will your country be in? How do you know?
7. Did your country change stages since 2017? How do you know?
8. If yes, what was happened in your country since 1990 that made your country be in this stage?
9. In 1990, what stage was the United States of America in? How do you know?
10. What was happening in the United States of America during this time that made the United States of America be in this stage?
11. In 2017, what stage was the United States of America in? How do you know?
12. Did the United States of America change stages since 1990? How do you know?
13. If yes, what was happened in the United States of America since 1990 that made the United States of America be in this stage?
14. In 2035, what stage will the United States of America be in? How do you know?
15. Did the United States of America change stages since 2017? How do you know?
16. If yes, what was happened in the United States of America since 1990 that made the United States of America be in this stage?
17. How does your country compare to the United States of America during each stage?
18. What country, yours or the United States of America, do you predict will be more stable? Why do you think that?